SUMMARY

---

Full-stack software developer with excellent organisational skills, self-reliant and independent with strong critical and logical thinking as showcased throughout my undergraduate degree in psychology, neuroscience and computer science. With a certificate in full-stack web-development, multiple certificates from udemy academies, contributions to open-source projects and experience working as a software developer, there are multiple roles that suit my qualifications. The utilisation of personal attributes such as ambition and creativity alongside good critical and logical thinking ensure engagement and quality in software creation.
